Fusion 7 White Label Standard

Fusion Framework

The Fusion Experience

The Fusion framework applies responsive design and a modular framework that will enable Citi to better share, configure, and customize content relevant to each partner's objectives. Program Fusion enhances the account management experience to fully support business goals and drive engagement. The platform uses a single codebase to deliver a best-in-class user experience across desktop, tablet, and mobile devices.

About Responsive Design

The Fusion experience includes five breakpoints. For the purposes of this document, we illustrate three main “master” views, which are indicated below by bold text. These master views are optimized for Desktop (large), Tablet (medium), and Mobile (extra small).

Breakpoint by Resolution:

These breakpoints map to specific screen resolutions:

- 1188 pixels and above = Extra Large View
- 1014 through 1187 = Large View ***
- 752 through 1013 = Medium View ***
- 480 through 751 = Small View
- 320 through 479 = Extra Small View ***

What Is a Module?

A module is a building block in the Fusion experience. It is a component that contains content and functionality necessary for a user-specific task. Modules are assembled in collections relevant to a topic or task and displayed on a page.

Informational Module

A module that presents information to a customer and may include customer data. For example, “Account Summary” does not write back to Citi systems.

Transactional Module

A module that presents information to a customer and may include customer data. These modules typically support a process flow such as “Make a Payment.” Writes information back to Citi systems.

Static Module

A module that presents content from the CMS with no customer data. This might include copy, images or video. An example is the “Contact Us” module.

Module Type: Transactional Module

The user must provide a valid e-mail address before proceeding to Credit Home. If DCF is down, let the user pass through and collect information on the next sign on.

If the user has multiple linked cards and does not have an email for a card other than the one they are currently viewing, then serve a page level notification asking them to enter email for that card. onClick the notification displays the Edit Email view of the Contact Information drawers within the Card Profile Module.

Content and interactions are consistent across all breakpoints. If the user clicks the browser back button, they are returned to the Sign On module. If the module fails to load, displays Module Failure.

Notes

The Update Profile Form is a shorter version of the Profile Form. The purpose of this form is to capture or validate information for previously registered users. The user is required to enter or confirm profile information after activating a reissued card and/or linking during the registration process. Content and interactions are consistent across all breakpoints.

If the user clicks the browser back button the Registration Verification Form is displayed.

| When the User ID entered meets the formatting requirements the Available Button is enabled. The user can check whether the User ID is available before continuing with the Profile Form. If the User ID is not available the user must try again. If the user has exceeded the number of available attempts to create a valid User ID, the system recommends three IDs; the user must select one as their User ID. Content and interactions are consistent across all breakpoints. |                      |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                           |

The purpose of this is to avoid a credit balance on your account. | Nota: En la fecha de pago programada, si tu pago es superior a tu saldo actual y al saldo en tu último estado de cuenta, reduciremos el pago a un monto equivalente al saldo del último estado de cuenta. ### Page Notes

Credit Module Type: Informational

This is the Settings Summary module. Items/links are hidden based on user’s eligibility. Progress bar values range from minimum of 0% to maximum 100%. Each link/task has a value of 20%. Progress bar increases and decreases in increments of 20%. See Notes for qualification rules. If the user cancels/deactivates Alerts, Paperless, Online Bill Pay, or removes email and phone from Profile, deduct 20% for each.

If user has a restriction on any of the links, that link is and the progress bar (and its content) is hidden.

Content and interactions are consistent in Extra Large, Large, Small and Extra Small Views. Module does not appear if the account has legal, lost/stolen, bankrupt, fraud, or charged-off, delinquent, over-limit, delinquent & over-limit, NRI Block non-reissue, and NRI Block-reissue status. If the module fails to load, displays Module Failure.

Page Notes

Credit Module Type: Informational

This is the medium view of the Settings Summary module. Progress bar values range from minimum of 0% to maximum 100%. Each link/task has a value of 20%. Progress bar increases and decreases in increments of 20%. If the user cancels/deactivates AutoPay, Alerts, Paperless, Online Bill Pay, or removes email and phone from Profile, deduct 20% for each.

If user has a restriction on any of the links, that link is and the progress bar (and its content) is hidden.

This is the content and interactions for Medium View. Module does not appear if the account has legal, lost/stolen, bankrupt, fraud, or charged-off, delinquent, over-limit, delinquent & over-limit, NRI Block non-reissue, and NRI Block-reissue status. If the module fails to load, displays Module Failure.
